Safety

The foundation of lasting value

Safety, efficiency and ergonomics are the three pillars of every solution we deliver. Safety comes first – and we don't just follow the rules, we help write them. As an active member of the European committee shaping EN 1570 standards, we influence how future regulations are defined. That means your solutions are not only compliant today, but future-ready for tomorrow. We always guide you through the complete application – ensuring safety not only in the table itself, but also in the surrounding environment.

All essential safety features are naturally integrated into our systems – Fall protection, emergency stops, secure locking mechanisms and more. But we don't stop there. We continuously push the boundaries with new sensors, automated safety functions and smart technologies that make operations even safer and more reliable.

A choice of SIGI Europe is a guarantee for safety that lasts.

Efficiency

Performance that lasts

True efficiency means achieving more with fewer resources – today and tomorrow. Our solutions are engineered for high capacity, short cycle times and long service life, reducing downtime and increasing productivity.

Automation and smart integration enable seamless in- and outfeeding, optimized logistics and reduced energy use. Each product is tested and certified for industrial reliability, ensuring predictable performance even under the toughest conditions. And we keep innovating – introducing smarter controls, energy-saving systems and connected solutions that make your operations faster, safer and more sustainable.

With SIGI Europe, efficiency isn't just speed – it's lasting value.

Efficiency is flow. Integrated lift tables prevent bottlenecks and keep production moving. With proven quality and reliability, we save time, boost productivity and ensure seamless operations across Europe.

Ergonomics means working in the golden zone – the natural reach where no bending or stretching is needed. Our platforms keep operators safe, comfortable and productive in every task.

Ergonomics

Designed for people

Ergonomics is more than comfort – it is science applied to human well-being at work. Our solutions are developed to reduce strain, bending and stretching, improving posture and minimizing the risk of long-term injuries.

The new Levitator working platform is a prime example: purpose-built to let operators work at the right height, in the right position, every time. And we keep evolving – integrating smart adjustments and automation to make workplaces even safer and more efficient.

Better for people.
Better for business.”

Focused Applications

Where we set the standard

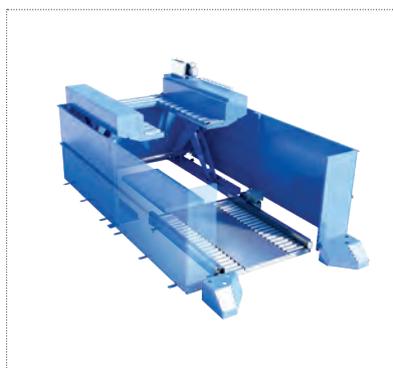

In key application areas, we don't just follow standards – we set them. Through early adoption, internal R&D and close customer partnerships, SIGI Europe has shaped solutions that others now benchmark against.

Here's where our expertise makes the difference:

Loading Bays

We reinvented loading bay safety with high-capacity lifts featuring interlocks, restraint systems and guided controls. Implemented in major logistics hubs before regulations caught up, our designs now serve as best-in-class benchmarks.

Automatic In/Outfeeding

Our feeding systems were among the first to fully transform lift tables to fully automated infeeding solutions with unified safety logic – enabling seamless operation in automated facilities where uptime and precision are critical.

Goods Lifts

SIGI developed modular goods lifts that meet — and often exceed — European directives. With unique safety locking and overload systems, our MDL units became reference models for regulators and remain the standard for vertical pallet movement.

PROVEN VALUE

- Faster installation through standardized modules
- Up to 70% shorter cycle times with automation
- Reduced downtime with certified reliability
- Lower total cost of ownership over product lifetime
- Documented safety improvements in every installation

AGV Readiness

We pioneered platforms designed for seamless AGV collaboration. Precision docking, sensor-based safety and ergonomic layouts have turned our installations into industry examples for safe human-robot interaction in logistics.

Pallet Handling

Our integrated tilting and rotating pallet stations bring automatic safety validation, lowering ergonomic strain and increasing throughput. Performance metrics from leading distribution centers show a clear advantage over traditional methods.

Order Picking Platforms

The Levitator is more than a product — it is a new category. By eliminating bending and stretching, it set a new ergonomic benchmark for order picking. Recognized in European safety forums, it redefined how platforms should work.

“ For us, a delivery is never the end – it’s the beginning of a partnership built on reliability, knowledge and trust. ”

Lifting Goods. Lifting People.

Safety, efficiency, and ergonomics for a stronger tomorrow.

Every lift matters. Sometimes it is goods moving safely through a factory. Sometimes it is people raised to the right height, working with less strain and greater control. In both cases, the purpose is the same: to improve health, to use resources more wisely, and to create solutions that last longer. That is what safety, efficiency and ergonomics mean in practice — fewer injuries, stronger productivity and sustainable flows. And behind every solution are people with ambition and care, united by one goal: to lift perspectives, lift each other, and lift the future.

Lift Your Perspective

We believe lifting is more than moving weight. It's about creating workplaces where people thrive, flows that never stop, and solutions that endure. Value founded on quality, driven by reliability, inspired by innovation.
